

4 pathways to student information...

FERPA Consent to Release

<http://www.uccs.edu/registrar/ferpa-consent-to-release.html>

Students may complete a FERPA Consent to Release to allow specified individuals to inquire about and discuss education records (academic and/or financial) with a university official.

The FERPA Consent to Release does not grant access to the student's portal, give authorized payer access, nor does it give access to medical records or information.*

CU Guest Access

<http://www.uccs.edu/registrar/cu-guest-access.html>

Students may authorize an online option for guests to view specific aspects of a student's academic education record (final grades, class schedule, advisor information).

CU Guest Access requires the guest to have a social media account with Facebook, Google, or LinkedIn.*

CU Guest Access does not authorize a guest to contact the university to request or discuss a student's education (academic or financial) record.*

Authorized Payer

<http://www.uccs.edu/parents/set-up-an-authorized-payer.html>

An online option for guests to view and pay a student's bill. The student will create a Quikpay account for the guest with a username and password.

An authorized payer account only gives guests the ability to view and pay the student's bill online. To discuss financial information with a university official, the student must complete the FERPA Consent to Release.*

Health & Mental Health Records

Student will review a release form at each visit.

All health and mental health records are considered private under Colorado state law. If a student wishes for any information from these records to be shared, the student must fill out a medical release form in the Wellness Center at the time of visit or following the visit. Release forms may not be completed prior to a student being seen. This release form is not the same as the FERPA Consent to Release.*

4 pathways to student information...

FERPA Consent to Release

<http://www.uccs.edu/registrar/ferpa-consent-to-release.html>

Students may complete a FERPA Consent to Release to allow specified individuals to inquire about and discuss education records (academic and/or financial) with a university official.

The FERPA Consent to Release does not grant access to the student's portal, give authorized payer access, nor does it give access to medical records or information.*

CU Guest Access

<http://www.uccs.edu/registrar/cu-guest-access.html>

Students may authorize an online option for guests to view specific aspects of a student's academic education record (final grades, class schedule, advisor information).

CU Guest Access requires the guest to have a social media account with Facebook, Google, or LinkedIn.*

CU Guest Access does not authorize a guest to contact the university to request or discuss a student's education (academic or financial) record.*

Authorized Payer

<http://www.uccs.edu/parents/set-up-an-authorized-payer.html>

An online option for guests to view and pay a student's bill. The student will create a Quikpay account for the guest with a username and password.

An authorized payer account only gives guests the ability to view and pay the student's bill online. To discuss financial information with a university official, the student must complete the FERPA Consent to Release.*

Health & Mental Health Records

Student will review a release form at each visit.

All health and mental health records are considered private under Colorado state law. If a student wishes for any information from these records to be shared, the student must fill out a medical release form in the Wellness Center at the time of visit or following the visit. Release forms may not be completed prior to a student being seen. This release form is not the same as the FERPA Consent to Release.*